

Emneoversigt

NYHED

18. oktober 2021

Ph.d.-forsvar 1. november: Demens og infektioner

Janet Janbek, der er kandidat i Folkesundhedsvidenskab, forsvarede sin ph.d.-afhandling "Epidemiology of Infections in Dementia: Nationwide registry-based studies on hospitalizations..."

ARTIKEL

Press photos

On this page you will find press photos of experts at DDRC.

ARTIKEL

About Gunhild Waldemar

Gunhild Waldemar is consultant neurologist, clinical professor and chair of DDRC. Main research areas include dementia epidemiology, global health, diagnostic...

ARTIKEL

Fact boxes on dementia

On this page you will find fact boxes on dementia, prevalence in Denmark, mortality, societal costs, treatment, early signs and...

NYHED

12. oktober 2021

Ny rapport: Flere bekymringspunkter i demensudredningen

Kvaliteten af udredninger for demens i de danske udredningsenheder er generelt god, men et højt antal udredningsenheder, sparsom brug af...

ARTIKEL

Costs associated with dementia

Care and treatment of dementia is associated with significant costs. The major part of the costs is related to municipal...

ARTIKEL

Consumption of drugs for dementia

According to the Danish Health and Medicines Authority, more than 28,000 people are being treated with drugs for dementia in...

ARTIKEL

Mortality from dementia

Dementia disorders are fatal. On average, a person with a dementia disorder lives 5 to 8 years after the diagnosis.

ARTIKEL

Distribution of dementia disorders

Up to 200 medical conditions can be accompanied by dementia or cognitive impairment. Alzheimer's disease is by far the most...

ARTIKEL

Age and gender distribution in dementia

Dementia is more common among women than men. Dementia most often affects older people, but dementia can in rare cases...